Automotive Interiors under $40,000

Experts reveal which models offer the best combination of comfort, style and value for new car shoppers

ATLANTA, June 26, 2014 /PRNewswire/ -- It's what's inside that counts for car shoppers, according to new research from AutoTrader.com. Nearly a third of shoppers say "comfort" is one of their three most important considerations when deciding which new car to buy.

To help shoppers decide which cars will give them the creature comforts they're craving, the expert editors at AutoTrader.com have identified which interiors consumers "must experience" when looking for their next vehicle.

"The good news for shoppers is that you don't have to buy an expensive car to enjoy things like leather seats and the latest infotainment system," said AutoTrader.com site editor, Brian Moody. "Automakers are recognizing how important a quality interior is to getting someone to purchase their vehicle over the competition, and they're investing accordingly."

To make the list, a vehicle's interior needed to offer a combination of comfort, convenience features and appealing design at a significant value for a consumer. The recognized models include:

- 2015 Volkswagen Golf
- 2015 Chrysler 200
- 2015 Hyundai Genesis
- 2014 Ford Flex with MyFord Touch
- 2014 Kia Cadenza
- 2014 Buick LaCrosse
- 2014 Mazda3
- 2014 Lexus IS
- 2014 Jeep Grand Cherokee
- 2014 Nissan Pathfinder
