Expert Recommendations for New Grads Amid Volatile Automotive Marketplace

ATLANTA, May 12, 2025 /PRNewswire/ -- When May comes around, many college graduates are in the market for a new getaway car as they race toward their exciting futures. To help guide grads toward making wise choices, Autotrader, a Cox Automotive brand, recently named the Best Cars for Recent College Graduates in 2025. Given looming tariffs* and volatile pricing in the automotive marketplace, it's more important than ever for car shoppers to maximize their research and consider the advice from experts.

"College students are graduating into a very uncertain economic climate this year, which adds yet another layer into the massive purchase decision that is buying a new car," said Brian Moody, executive editor for Autotrader. "The most recent data from Cox Automotive reveals the average price of a new car in the United States reaches above $47,000, but we don't necessarily recommend new grads spend that much as they launch into their new phase of adulthood. There are plenty of great vehicles, both brand-new and gently used certified pre-owned (CPO) models, that will fit the bill perfectly at a sub-$30,000 price point."

All of the featured 2025 model-year vehicles make the grade when it comes to the Autotrader editors' three primary criteria for this list. First, candidates must have a starting price under $30,000, including destination charge. Next, they must have a 5-Star Overall Safety Rating from the National Highway Transportation Safety Administration (NHTSA). And finally, each car must have at least one cool feature that stands out to the editors. This cool thing may be functional, it might be part of the design, or it might be unexpected, but it is a feature grads will appreciate.
