ATLANTA, GA, November 18, 2020 – Like most things in 2020, this year’s holiday season will look and feel different in many ways – including how people will travel. According to a recent survey from Cox Automotive^[*], 86% of U.S. adults are planning to hit the road by car or RV this holiday season, versus flying. To make road trips a little warmer and help people drive in style, Autotrader and Kelley Blue Book created limited-edition “ugly” sweater light up face masks and steering wheel covers to spread cheer all season long.

“As more people rely on cars to get to their holiday destinations this year – whether they are headed out to shop or visit close family - it’s important they have a car that meets their specific travel needs and is comfortable...”

Keeping the holiday spirit alive is more important than ever this year, and so is having the best car for holiday travel. Autotrader and Kelley Blue Book, the trusted names for car buyers, instill confidence in shoppers when it comes to researching, purchasing and maintaining the best car to match their lifestyle and travel needs. With cars becoming more of an escape and safe haven, it is important to keep them looking their best, especially for the 7-in-10 consumers that are committed to purchasing accessories for their cars. And, with people anticipating 1-3 pit stops on their long holiday journeys, having a festive mask readily available will be key.

“As more people rely on cars to get to their holiday destinations this year – whether they are headed out to shop or visit close family - it’s important they have a car that meets their specific travel needs and is comfortable,” said Greta Crowley, vice president marketing for Autotrader and Kelley Blue Book. “We know it’s been a tough year, so we wanted to have a little fun this holiday season and try to add some cheer to consumers. The holiday masks and steering wheel covers do just that.”

From November 18 through December 4^[†], holiday travelers will have the opportunity to visit <http://www.holidayindrive.com/> for a chance to win accessories for the car and driver including a pair of “ugly” holiday sweater light up face masks – one for you and a great gift for a friend – and an “ugly” holiday sweater steering wheel cover.
