The television network will also host "Be a Smart Car Buyer" presented by AutoTrader.com on its website through the end of July. Both the sweepstakes and online car buying guide are designed to target Lifetime's female-skewed audience. Lifetime has produced 15-second television vignettes, which the network will air throughout its June programming, to further publicize the sweepstakes.

"The Smart Wheels Sweepstakes is an interactive way to share all the information we provide on AutoTrader.com with our rapidly-growing consumer audience," said Clark Wood, vice president of marketing, AutoTrader.com. "Our partnership with Lifetime is a key initiative within our campaign to drive consumers to AutoTrader.com to learn about the best way to research, compare and buy and sell cars."

AutoTrader.com's affiliation with Lifetime is a component of the automotive site's biggest media campaign in company history. The multimillion dollar campaign extends across 11 networks and will feature over 1,900 television spots throughout the summer.
